You are invited to an empowering insightful 2.5 day training

An opportunity to learn, experience and gain practical tools.

The Circle process draws on ancient and contemporary wisdom in a way that values both the individual and the collective. Circles are inherently democratic and harness the diversity of people and perspectives.

Circles can serve many purposes and are used in a variety of settings including: workplaces, justice system, government, schools, families and communities.

An approach that creates different possibilities for how people engage, communicate, and deal with conflict and change.

This experiential training will include:

- The Foundation and Invitation of Circles
- Circle Structure and Process
- Practical Applications
- Facilitation Skills
